Net Performance Since Strategy Change

Monthly Commentary

The Schweizer Aktienperlen Fund closed out May with a pleasing gain of +2.51%. Thanks to this recent increase in value, the portfolio was able to fully offset the volatility seen in the first few months. Since the start of the year, the fund's performance has returned to positive territory at +0.41%.

The ongoing peace talks between the U.S. and Iran created a noticeably more relaxed atmosphere in the markets in May. These diplomatic overtures significantly eased market participants' geopolitical concerns. At the same time, an exceptionally robust earnings season underscored the economy's fundamental resilience. Most companies impressed with solid financial metrics, which provided the markets with significant momentum. Despite this positive momentum, the Swiss market lagged slightly behind international stock exchanges, as global technology trends generated stronger momentum elsewhere.

Within our portfolio, there were significant performance differences during the reporting month. Logitech, Richemont, Comet, and Holcim emerged as the strongest drivers, benefiting from the global appetite for risk. On the other hand, performance in May was slightly dampened by temporary profit-taking and consolidation at Burkhalter, Accelleron, and SIG.

Risk profile (SRI)

The synthetic risk indicator allows you to assess the risk level of this product compared to others. It indicates the probability that this product will incur losses when market movements occur. On a scale of 1 to 7, we have classified this product in the above risk class.

Be aware of the exchange rate risk if the currency of the result or the currency of the product are different. You may receive payments in a different currency, so this will depend on a high or low interpretation of the exchange rate between the two currencies.

Investors should note that the product may be exposed to other risks not mentioned in the synthetic risk indicator (operational, counterparty-related, political, and legal risks). As this product does not offer protection against market movements, you could lose all or part of your investment.
