Net Performance Since Strategy Change

Monthly Commentary

In March, the Schweizer Aktienperlen Fund posted a decline of -7.1%. As a result, the fund outperformed the SMI by 0.5%, as the SMI recorded a loss of -7.6% over the same period. Year-to-date, the Aktienperlen Fund had a return of -6.1% as of the end of March, while the SMI posted a loss of -2.3%.

The relative outperformance compared to the SMI during the reporting month resulted primarily from specific stock selection, a temporarily more defensive positioning, and an increased liquidity ratio in a volatile market environment.

The market environment in March was characterized by heightened uncertainty. Profit-taking following the previous rally, as well as a reassessment of short-term interest rate expectations, weighed on sentiment in the equity markets. In addition, mixed economic signals led to a more defensive stance among investors, resulting in increased volatility both internationally and within the Swiss market.

Within the portfolio, Galderma, Helvetia, Baloise, Kühne+Nagel, and Accelleron stood out in March with positive contributions to performance. By contrast, the share price performance of ABB, SGS, and Sika weighed on the portfolio, as these companies were more severely affected by general market corrections in the current environment.
